

COMMUNITY

LEARNING ABOUT DOWN SYNDROME

Tribune Chronicle / Bob Coupland

Champion Central Elementary School teachers took part in a recent workshop about students with Down syndrome and classroom programs that cater to the children. Resource materials and books were shown by Michele Jones of Howland and Sharon Bettura of Canfield, a teacher. Seated are Champion teachers Jamie Stephens, an intervention specialist; Patricia Corsatea, a second-grade teacher; Cathy Hinkle, special education; Kelly Hendrick, second grade; and Donna Zuga, coordinator of special education.